Guests / New members: No guests or new members were present Monthly flying program: Looks like about 5 members are still active in that program through the end of April

Field Maintenance Projects

Our pilot stand tables and stations are looking good, the shed floor has been repaired, the shed door is still in work, Pavilion netting is repaired and in good shape, and the Runway Mat is done. There was more discussion on the setup tables and Scott has volunteered to pursue getting them repaired. Thank you to all who were able to help!

New Entrance Road

.At the edge of our field there is now an electric fence that must be unhooked when arriving and re hooked when leaving. Care should be taken to use the insulated handles. Use of one hand to perform that ensures you cannot be seriously harmed. Care to layout the lines and not cross or kink the wires is important as well. Bob needs this fence in place to protect his vines from the deer. A sign was placed at the old green gate to indicate the direction to travel to the field. Care should be taken by drivers and flyers while cars are coming to or leaving the field.

Pushing Foam

A new section in the news letter for all club members! Send me by email what you are doing in the RC world any interest, what your working on, what your looking for, questions (hopefully someone will have an answer or idea), something you might want to get rid of, etc.

Combat flying By Scott Mohr

Warren was the victor of the 1st dog fight of the year. Tom took a chunk out of Scott's rudder which, de-streamered him and removed toms prop. Zack had an air to ground incident. 2nd dog fight Tom was the victor landed with Scott's streamer wrapped around his wing. Lots of fun. Check out the video on WRCF text thread.
